

Our Privacy Policy

This privacy policy applies to information collected online from users of this website. In this policy, you can learn what kind of information we collect, when and how we might use that information, how we protect the information, and the choices you have with respect to your personal information.

What personal information is collected through this website and how is it used?

We collect information about our users in three ways: directly from the user, from our Web server logs and through cookies. We use the information primarily to provide you with a personalized Internet experience that delivers the information, resources, and services that are most relevant and helpful to you. We don't share any of the information you provide with others, unless we say so in this Privacy Policy, or when we believe in good faith that the law requires it.

User-supplied information: If you fill out the contact form on this website, we will ask you to provide some personal information (such as e-mail address, name, phone number and state). Further, if chat is available through this site, you may be asked to provide information if you participate in an online chat. Please do not submit any confidential, proprietary or sensitive personally identifiable information (e.g. Social Security Number; date of birth; driver's license number; credit card, bank account or other financial information) (collectively, "Sensitive Information"). If you submit any Sensitive Information, you do so at your own risk, and we will not be liable to you or responsible for consequences of your submission.

Information that you provide to us through the contact form, or an online chat will be used so that we may respond to your inquiry. We may also use information you provide to us to communicate with you in the future.

Web server logs: When you visit our website, we may track information about your visit and store that information in web server logs, which are records of the activities on our sites. The servers automatically capture and save the information electronically. Examples of the information we may collect include:

- your unique Internet protocol address.
- the name of your unique Internet service provider.
- the town/city, county/state and country from which you access our website.
- the kind of browser or computer you use.
- the number of links you click within the site.
- the date and time of your visit.
- the web page from which you arrived at our site.
- the pages you viewed on the site.
- certain searches/queries that you conducted via our website(s).

The information we collect in web server logs helps us administer the site, analyze its usage, protect the website and its content from inappropriate use and improve the user's experience.

Cookies: To offer and provide a customized and personal service, our websites and applications may use cookies and similar technologies to store and help track information about you. Cookies are simply small pieces of data that are sent to your browser from a Web server and stored on your computer's hard drive. We use cookies to help remind us of who you are and to help you navigate our sites during your visits. Cookies also can tell us where visitors go on a website and allow us to save preferences for you, so you won't have to re-enter them each time you visit. The use of cookies is relatively standard. Most Internet browsers are initially set up to accept cookies, but you can use your browser to either notify you when you receive a cookie or to disable cookies.

If you wish to disable cookies from this site, you can do so using your browser. You should understand that some features of many sites may not function properly if you don't accept cookies.

By visiting this website, you consent to the use of cookies and similar technologies in accordance with this Privacy Statement.

Third-party Services: We may use services hosted by third parties to assist in providing our services and to help us understand the use of our site by our visitors. These services may collect information sent by your browser as part of a web page request, including your IP address or cookies. If these third-party services collect information, they do so anonymously and in the aggregate to provide information helpful to us such as website trends, without identifying individual visitors.

In addition, we may use services provided by third parties to display relevant content, products, services and advertising to you. These third parties may use cookies, web beacons and similar technologies to collect or receive information from this website and elsewhere on the internet. They may then use that information to provide measurement services so we can understand your interests and retarget advertisements based on your previous visits to this website. Please keep in mind that we do not share your personal information with any third-party advertiser, ad server or ad network.

How is personal information protected?

We take certain appropriate security measures to help protect your personal information from accidental loss and from unauthorized access, use or disclosure. However, we cannot guarantee that unauthorized persons will always be unable to defeat our security measures.

Who has access to the information?

We will not sell, rent, or lease mailing lists or other user data to others, and we will not make your personal information available to any unaffiliated parties, except as follows:

- to agents, website vendors and/or contractors who may use it on our behalf or in connection with their relationship with us.
- if we are unable to assist with your matter, but know an unaffiliated attorney or firm that may be able to help you, we may refer you and share information you provided us with that party.
- as required by law, in a matter of public safety or policy, as needed in connection with the transfer of our business assets (for example, if we are acquired by another firm or if we are liquidated during bankruptcy proceedings), or if we believe in good faith that sharing the data is necessary to protect our rights or property.

How can I correct, amend or delete my personal information and/or opt out of future communications?

You may opt out of any future contacts from us at any time. Contact us via the phone number, contact form or mailing address on our website at any time to:

- see what data we have about you, if any.
- change/correct any data we have about you.
- ask us to delete any data we have about you.
- opt out of future communications from us.

If you have any additional questions or concerns about this privacy policy, please contact us via the phone number, contact form or mailing address listed on this website. If our information practices change in a significant way, we will post the policy changes here.

Terms of Use

Acceptance of Terms of Use

By accessing and using this website and other related online communities, including social media platforms such as Facebook, Twitter and Instagram, you are deemed to have accepted the following Terms of Use. Please note we reserve the right to modify these Terms of Use at any time. Each time that you access this Site, you are agreeing to the Terms of Use in effect at that time, as set forth on this page. If you do not accept each of the conditions, please refrain from accessing and using the website.

No Legal Advice

We make this Site available for general informational purposes only. Nothing contained in this Site is intended to be legal advice and no representations are made about the accuracy or completeness of any of the information. Information found on this Site may not reflect the most current information or developments available. Also, information found on this Site about the law or legal principles may not apply to a particular set of facts. You may not rely upon or act upon any of the information found on this Web Site without seeking legal counsel concerning the specific facts involved in your situation or circumstances.

No Attorney-Client Relationship

The use of this Site and the use of any electronic mail associated with this Site or the contact form on this Site will not create or establish an attorney-client relationship.

Ownership and Copyright

Unless indicated otherwise, this Site and all content, information, images, data, and materials on this Site (“Content”), and all intellectual property rights associated with the Content, are the property of Adam Baker, Attorney at Law LLC or its licensors. This Site and all Content are protected by copyright and other intellectual property laws. All rights are reserved. We also maintain all rights, title and interest to the content we post on other online communities, such as Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram.

Authorized Uses of this Web Site

You may use this Site and may download or copy any materials found on this Site, for personal, noncommercial use, if you comply with all other Terms of Use and provided that all copies bear any copyright, trademark, or other notice posted on this Site that is applicable to the copied information. No other use is permitted. Except as specifically provided in this paragraph, we make no license or grant of trademark, copyright, or other proprietary or intellectual property rights in any of the information or materials found on this Site.

Links to Third Party Websites

This website may include links and references to websites and documents published by third parties (“other sites”) for your convenience and information. We do not control and are not responsible for other websites and their activities, products, services, or content.

User Obligations

By using this Site, you are agreeing that you will not engage in any conduct or submit to this Site any Content or other material that is illegal, inaccurate, misleading, misappropriated, infringing, dilutive, defamatory, obscene, offensive, or otherwise objectionable. By using this Site, you are also agreeing that you will not take any action or engage in any conduct that causes damage, embarrassment, or adverse publicity to Adam Baker, Attorney at Law LLC.